Thumbelina met along the way. (4). I would also give the students a large sheet of construction paper where they would put in each square an event that happened to Thumbelina and would note a picture of that event as they remember things that happened in the story. For example, in one of the squares Thumbelina meets the beetle.

Thumbelina.™ Thumbelina was very contented. At night she slept under a rose petal in a polished walnut shell. By day she rowed herself across a bowl of water the woman had put out for her. As she rowed she sang. She had the sweetest voice you've ever heard. One night, while Thumbelina was asleep, a toad hopped through the window.
